

Sen. Ty Masterson (KS) on Restoring Trust in Elections

"If people can't trust the results, you can't trust the government at all," says Sen. Ty Masterson, Kansas State Senate President.

Here, Sen. Masterson discusses the importance of closing loopholes in elections that make it easier to cheat and thereby disenfranchise eligible voters. He discusses how election integrity is crucial for any democracy and explains several reforms aimed at setting fair and consistent rules for Kansas elections.

"For every fraudulent vote that happens, you disenfranchise a valid voter."
