WISCONSIN STATE SENATOR

Wisconsin State Senator Dan Feyen: How a good work ethic leads to a good life

Wisconsin State Senator Dan Feyen believes that a good work ethic produces a sense of self-worth. He is working on getting Wisconsinites off the sidelines and back to work.

Here, State Sen. Feyen discusses how taking time off work has long-term consequences. Not only does the state's economy suffer when too many able-bodied individuals sit on the sidelines, but not working affects an individual's life and savings in the long term. He argues that having a good work ethic can lead to a good life.

"A good day's work is worth it."
