Missouri State Senator Sandy Crawford: We must have fair elections

Voting is a fundamental right, but the 2020 election caused many voters to feel uneasy about the process. Missouri State Senator Sandy Crawford believes we must have fair elections.

Here, Sen. Crawford discusses reforms that would help safeguard elections such as voter ID laws and requiring paper ballots. She believes these are common-sense reforms that would not prohibit someone from voting but rather make sure the right person is voting at the right time.

“The last thing I want to do is prohibit somebody from voting, but we just want to make sure that we have the right person voting at the right time.”
