

Missouri County Clerk Shane Schoeller on election security and transparency

To ensure voters' voices are heard on Election Day, we must safeguard our elections by requiring proper documentation, such as valid photo ID when casting a ballot.

Here, Missouri County Clerk Schoeller discusses how he and the Secretary of State's Office are working together to help preserve the integrity of our elections through enhanced cybersecurity, verification of voters through photo ID, and transparency in election processes.

"We need to trust, but we also need to verify, [and not] put blind trust in our elections."
