

SOROS-BACKED PROGRESSIVE PROSECUTORS:

A Thin Line of Defense Against Election Fraud

THE OFFER

In just six years, George Soros has contributed more than $40 million to far-left candidates in usually small dollar, non-politicized campaigns.

In many races, Soros's contributions represented 80-90 percent of the total campaign funding.

Today, Soros-backed district attorneys—who are committed to an ideological agenda that prioritizes criminals over public safety—represent more than 70 million Americans.

As if that weren't bad enough...if a district attorney is willing to ignore:

Larry Krasner | Philadelphia, Pennsylvania | Received $2,959,000 from Soros

Alvin Bragg | New York, New York | Received $1,072,000 from Soros

On his third day in office, Bragg stressed “diversion and alternatives to incarceration” and stressed reducing serious crimes, like armed robbery, to misdemeanors. He will also largely no longer prosecute trespass offenses, the charge of resisting arrest, and subway crimes.

George Gascon | Los Angeles County, California | Received $4,700,000 from Soros

Gascon sentenced a Quiet Village gang member to only 20 days in jail after claiming he “had no history of violence and very little contact with the criminal justice system” even after misdemeanor convictions in 2013, 2018, 2019, and 2020. This move put him back on the street—where he later killed two police officers.

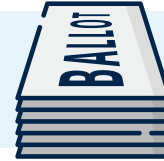

Why should we have any confidence that they won't ignore:

Absentee ballot fraud

Zuckerbucks

Ballot
harvesting

THE ASK

Build up your defenses:

1 Establish an elections crimes and security unit to investigate violations of the election code.

2 Provide state attorneys general with dual authority to prosecute.

IT'S TRENDING

States like Florida, Ohio, Texas, and Virginia have recently established new units or divisions that investigate election crimes.
