MISSOURI STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Missouri State Representative Nick Schroer on election integrity, inflation, and education

Missourians are concerned about securing elections, addressing inflation without placing burdens on businesses, and focusing on educating children to succeed in our economy are crucial.

Here, Rep. Nick Schroer discusses the importance of preserving the rights of voters to choose their representatives through fair and secure elections. In particular, he cites paper ballots and rigorous post-election audits as potential solutions. He also notes that real reform in K-12 education will help students learn the basic skills they need in order to thrive in a competitive economy.

“[The] right to cast your vote and make your voice heard by way of going to a polling booth and casting in support or opposition of a candidate... That’s something that we should fight to preserve.”

—REP. NICK SCHROER
