Why does Jessica love FGA?

"FGA is incredibly poised to make a substantial difference to improve our country on the core issues of health care and welfare. I am so excited to work with a non-profit that is truly interested in making a difference."

Jessica Rizzuto is the Digital Marketing Manager at the Foundation for Government Accountability (FGA).

Prior to joining FGA, Jessica was the digital marketing director for Owlet Baby Care and as the test and learn director and digital director for Americans for Prosperity Foundation. She holds a Bachelor of Arts in Economics and Political Science from the University of Utah, and a Juris Doctorate from George Mason Law School. Her work has been featured in the Wall Street Journal, USA Today, Washington Times, and Real Clear Politics.

Jessica first experienced the value of work while working as a receptionist at a doctor's office. For her, work is more than just a paycheck--it provides friends, a cause to believe in, and self-confidence. This philosophy was a major motivational factor for why she believes in getting people off welfare and into the workforce.

When she's not working, Jessica enjoys spending time with her family and traveling. A fan of Utah Utes Football and a reluctant fan of golf, Jessica and her husband live in Salt Lake City, Utah.
