Why does Mimi love FGA?

"As a grandchild of immigrants, I have experienced the power of the American Dream and the blessings of freedom. With FGA, my colleagues and I work together every day to ensure that all Americans can pursue meaningful work, support their families, and enjoy a prosperous nation."

Mimi Singleton is a Federal Affairs Director at the Foundation for Government Accountability.

Prior to joining FGA, she was a government affairs coordinator at the Conservative Partnership Institute and held policy roles in both the U.S. House and Senate. She holds a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from the University of Notre Dame.

Mimi Singleton first experienced the value of work while working as a ski instructor in the winter, a camp counselor in the summer, and a concession stand employee in the spring and fall. Early on, she experienced the way that work connects individuals with their communities, strengthens families, and empowers people to grow in their gifts and talents.

When she's not working, Mimi loves skiing, skating, reading, and participating in her local parish. A Massachusetts native and New York City sports fan, Mimi currently lives in Maryland with her husband Michael and their son.
